

CAROLINA SPARTAN.

BY CAVIS & TRIMMIE.

Devoted to Southern Rights, Politics, Agriculture, and Miscellany.

$2 PER ANNUM

VOL. XIII.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1856.

NO. 33.

THE CAROLINA SPARTAN.

BY CAVIS & TRIMMIE.

T. O. P. VERNON, Associate Editor.

Price Two Dollars per annum in advance, or $2.50 at the end of the year. If not paid until after the year expires $3.00.

Advertisements inserted at the usual rates, and contracts made on reasonable terms.

CAROLINA SPARTAN.

Forgive and Forget.

He who forgives a brother
Unrelenting will refuse,
Will within his breast to smother
Fames of malice rather than
Who his heart in hatred sheathing,
Seals his lips to sounds of love;
Hard unkindness only breeding,
Only lives his fire to prove;
He is dead to all but folly.
Yes, the star of peace his net,
Who knows not the lion-ly
To forgive and to forget.

He whose heart ne'er knew the pleasure
Gold or grandeur cannot buy,
Yea, not time itself shall measure—
His who bids Revenge to die,
Though he drink from golden chalice,
Whom Fortune raves her golden shower,
If he draught quench not his malice,
Nor her bounty Anger's power:
He is dead to all but folly.

Often though his knees be bended,
Though his oft-clasped hands he raise,
From his lips though oft have vended
Words that sound of prayer and praise;
Seems his gift upon the altar,
To men a goodly sacrifice;
God disclaims the proud defauler,
God sees not with human eyes:
He is dead to all but folly.

A COMPARISON.

The annexed table shows the results of the August and September elections of the present year, compared with the results in the same States at the Presidential election in 1852, when Pierce, the Democratic candidate, walked over the course.

Aug. & Sept., 1856.	Pres. Election.	Dem. All others.	Dem. All others.
Iowa,	39,920	40,387	8,624	8,221
Arkansas,	28,159	15,473	12,753	7,404
N. Carolina,	56,769	44,775	39,744	39,058
Kentucky,	8,000 m.			3,262
Texas,	12,000 m.			8,537 m.
Vermont,	20,000 m.			17,750
Maine,	35,000 m.			1,036 m.
	137,848	141,599	70,131	75,655
		137,848		70,131

Opp. maj. vote, 7,150 Opp. m. '52 5,661

The vote of Missouri hardly admits of being inserted into the above table, for the reason that there were two Democratic candidates for Governor at the recent election, namely, Polk and Benton, the aggregate of whose vote was 74,416 against 40,577 for Ewing, American. To include the vote of Benton in the Democratic candidates would hardly be fair to the Opposition. To include only Polk's vote, would not be fair to the Democrats. Benton, the other Democratic candidate for Governor, has publicly declared for Buchanan; so has his organ, the St. Louis Democrat; and the Benton Electoral ticket has withdrawn in favor of the Polk Electoral ticket—both being in fact, in fact.

In the aggregate, these eight States stand quite as well for the Democrats now as they did at the last Presidential election. They then chose 38 Electors for Pierce and 18 for Scott. Should they vote at the present election next November, as they have at the recent elections, they would give Buchanan 39 votes and Fremont 17 votes; the Democratic majority being 20 in 1852—now 22. Let us show this in detail.

Buchanan.	Fremont.	Scott.
Iowa,	4	4
Arkansas,	1	1
N. Carolina,	10	11
Kentucky,	4	12
Texas,	4	9
Maine,	8	9
Vermont,	9	7
Missouri,	9	6
	39	17
	17	18

D. m. nov. 19 D. m. in '52, 28
If the Representatives derive any consolation from these results, I hope they will make the most of them. Unless they succeed better in the other 23 States, it is clear that they are defeated in an ignominious defeat; for in 1852 only four States voted against Pierce, viz., Vermont, Massachusetts, Kentucky and Tennessee.

No other elections take place prior to November, except the following, viz:
Florida, Oct. 10
Pennsylvania, Oct. 10
Ohio, Oct. 14
South Carolina, Oct. 17
Indiana, Oct. 17
The State of California does not take place this year till November 4th, same day with the Presidential election.
Georgia holds no State election this year; her elections being biennial.—Journal of Commerce.

AN ABOLITION MESSAGE.—Some anonymous scribbler directs to us the enclosed note of threats. Really now, what shall we do, where run in what popular hollow hole, how make our peace with abolition low dogs the impending storm? But hear the fellow:
New York, Sept. 20, 1856.
"Fret and frown as you wish, as you please, vilify the North, and praise your Bally Brocks. But know ye, friends, that not only do we have Kansas free and no more slave States, but we will effect a total abolition of slavery in the United States. There will soon be but one or two questions, and those are, how much (if anything) you shall be paid for your slaves, and how when they shall be emancipated. We are driven to this by your lying imposture upon the abolition of the Missouri Compromise, and your impious and haughty boasting to the North. The attack on Sumner last you thrice Northern States."
AN OLD DEMOCRAT.
Nonsense! What three States did I use us that we would not have lost any how? "You mean to do a great deal, old Democrat! But 'know ye, friend,' that madmen and traitors, who talk as you do, will find penitentiaries and hellers a plenty between this and the accomplishment of the object you propose to yourselves.—Edgefield Advertiser.

The reported hostile attitude of England towards Mexico is confirmed. Havana correspondence received at New York, says that the difficulty arose from the non payment of claims due by Mexico to British subjects. It is reported, that if England's demands are not immediately complied with, she will find penitentiaries and hellers a plenty between this and the accomplishment of the object you propose to yourselves.—Edgefield Advertiser.

INDIAN MASSACRE.

The Council Bluffs (Iowa) Bugle has the following account of a tragedy in murder and robbery of Col. B. W. Babbitt's train of government property, by the Cheyenne Indians on the Plains:
On Monday night, the 25th of August, the little train with Alexander Nichols (one of our citizens) as captain and conductor, and Mrs. Wilson and her family, a young man named Green, from St. Louis, a young man named Green Parrish, a man from Pennsylvania, and another name unknown, accompanying, were encamped upon Prairie creek, ten miles east from Wood river, neither far nor dreaming of danger, when they were suddenly attacked by a band of Cheyennes, (which for some cause had been attacked and driven by the soldiers at Kearney.) Orren Parrish only escaped uninjured to the fort, whilst the other young man received a dangerous wound from a bullet in the leg.

Some days after, a detachment was sent from the fort, (twenty miles), who found the dead body of Mr. Nichols some twenty yards from the wagon, also the dead body of the gentleman from Pennsylvania close by, and the dead body of the child, with its brains dashed out and horribly mutilated. The pillow where the child and mother slept was bloody, and a portion of the iron wardrobe of Mrs. Wilson, and the dress which she wore, were also found. The oxen (ten yoke) and all the mules were gone, and the wagons rifled of much of their contents.

It seems, however, that a band of Omaha hunters, having been just out of the murder, and in time to stop the pillage and recover the money and some other valuables stolen, which were honestly turned over to the Colonel in command of the corps.
Mrs. Wilson has doubtless been wounded, when she carried away captive. The young man who escaped with a wound in the hospital at the fort; and the wagons, and what property remained, were also taken to the fort. These are the particulars, as far as we can gather them. In a few days we shall, however, doubt get a full and correct account of the matter from the pen of Mr. Babbitt himself, which we will lay before our readers.

The Cheyennes are a warlike and cruel race, numbering several thousand, who inhabit some of the wild and almost impenetrable valleys in the western of the Rocky Mountains, southwest from Fort Laramie, and seldom come out except to rob, plunder, or go to war with other tribes. Our civilization will never be safe until these merciless pirates are exterminated.

The same tribe of Indians recently attacked the mail between Oregon, Mo., and Fort Kearney. For this they were pursued by Captain Stewart's company, and a detachment under Lieut. Wheaton. On the 24th they came upon them in camp, charged upon and killed ten of them on the ground, captured twenty-five head of ponies, a great many lances, shields, and nearly everything they had in the camp.—Richmond Dispatch.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH.

There has been quite a burst of fiery indignation, ala Burlingame, at freedom of speech being beaten upon by blood-guns, and the violence of Southern men has been held up at the North as shocking and brutal in their attempt to restrain the expression of free thought in a free country. The following occurrence, which lately took place in a Southern hotel, where many Southerners were collected, is a good reading, both in evidence of the pluck of the bold defenders of Sumner, et alii genus, and the courtesy of Southern men:

A loud-talking Massachusetts declaimer, under the name of a volunteer, made a very vehement denunciation of the course of Southern men, and of every man connected with it, and presented a very free opinion, without being attacked with personal violence, &c., that he for one would never uphold the right, be the consequences what they may, &c. A quiet Southerner remarked that he thought that there was a limit to such expressions, and that there were many occasions on which it was neither courteous nor proper to say what one thought. The Northern man was very belligerent, and said he claimed the largest liberty for every one, who should be answered and told him: "Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and I am very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, and if you are not very much disposed to do it, you will find yourself speaking in the gutter. Suppose, sir, I were to say to you, which I would not for the world be so discourteous as to say, you are a low, contemptible, arrogant knave—that right have you to come among gentlemen and to speak of them as you would, but you ought to be kicked out, and